The Pass 2010
Sauvignon Blanc (NZ)

each in 2 bottle purchase
$12.99 single

A New Zealand Marlborough sauvignon blanc by Vavasour that's a blend of grapes from the Awatere and Wairau Valleys. Moderately concentrated wine with a mix of passion fruit and grassy flavours. Quite soft with a suggestion of sweetness.

$11.99

Sol de Mayo 2008
Malbec (Arg)

each in 2 bottle purchase
$12.99 single

This wine boasts ripe plummy fruit and clove spice dressed up in a big round soft package with a dry balancing finish. An Argentinean would probably eat a half a cow with a bottle of this red, you'll probably settle for a T-bone. Sensational value and screw capped.

$14.99

Allegory 2008
Cabernet Merlot

each in 2 bottle purchase
$16.99 single

Brand-new and attractive label from the Burch family that gives us Howard Park and Madfish wines. This blend is a squishy ripe-fruited style of red wine that is designed to be drunk in its youth. The tannins are gentle; the palate medium-bodied, oak adds a light savouriness and the finish is balanced by soft acid.

$14.99

The Black Chook 2010
Pinot Grigio

each in 2 bottle purchase
$16.99 single

Popular variety in Australia and this Adelaide Hills wine has the often-seen freshly-poached pear and apple varietal characters and then a little sugar is there to give mouthfeel and balance. The acid is soft and this means drink-soon. Do just that.

$16.99

Redbank 2010
Sunday Morning Pinot Gris

each in 2 bottle purchase
$17.99 single

Pinot gris is a masochist, it loves cold weather and the King Valley, high in NE Victoria, has plenty of that. This youthful Valley wine is an attractive green/straw in colour and is redolent of ripe pear, has a light textural palate with a smidge of sugar and satisfactory acid on closure.

$16.99

Harewood Estate 2010
Pinot Noir

each in 2 bottle purchase
$17.99 single

Denmark on the coast in the Great Southern is a good spot for pinot and this is a beauty from the area. It's a fuller style, driven by cherry fruit and earthy rhubarb characters and has balancing oak for complexity. It has a warming seductive finish.

$17.99

Teusner 2010
The Independent Shiraz Mataro

each in 2 bottle purchase
$19.99 single

An unusual equal blend of shiraz and mataro (mouvedre), this young Barossa red is a bottle full of drinking pleasure with a cushion of blackberry fruit supporting spicy and chocolately earthy characters. You'll notice a velvety balance in the mouth.

$18.99

Wynns 2010
"The Siding" Cabernet Sauvignon

each in 2 bottle purchase
$19.99 single

From the world-renowned Coonawarra Estate, this green label is designed as an earlier drinking cabernet than the famous long living Black Label Cabernet Sauvignon. It still has the regional traits of mint, brambly blackberry and fine acidity. Enjoy in the next four years.

$18.99

Deutz Marlborough Cuvée NV Brut

each in 2 bottle purchase
$19.99 single

This has it all, attractive packaging, bright straw colour, lots of bubble, lifted biscuity bouquet, fresh long dry cleansing palate and the price is pretty good as well. With a helping hand from Champagne Deutz in France, this has become one of the dependable quality sparklers of NZ.

$19.99

Lenton Brae 2011
Semillon Sauvignon Blanc

each in 2 bottle purchase
$21.99 single

The family-owned Margaret River winery of Lenton Brae celebrates the 25th anniversary of this wonderful wine with this vintage. The quality continues with zesty lemon and tropical flavours and grassy edges. Its imposing track record says "drink now or over the next seven or eight years."

$19.99

Brini 2006
Sebastian Shiraz

each in 2 bottle purchase
$22.99 single

Open and allow to breathe for a while and then appreciate the ripe plum, toasty oak and dusty maturity of a solid estate-grown McLaren Vale shiraz from a very good SA vintage. It's not overloaded with sweet oak and has a savoury lift which is conducive to food, especially aged beef.

$24.99

Edwards
2007 Cabernet Sauvignon

each in 2 bottle purchase
$27.99 single

Here's a small producer on Caves Road in Margaret River to keep an eye on. This cabernet is a medium-weighted red with finely tuned tannins, subtle oak, black olive fruit characters and some regional eucalypt leafiness. An elegant modern style of red with fine length of flavour.
